The William Mason Memorial Hospital will be rebuilt, it was announced, by Dr. Wm. H. Mason shortly after the fire which destroyed the 65 patient room hospital, one of the finest surgical hospitals in the South,
at a loss of which no doubt will exceed $150,000.

Miss Ruby Rose, senior nurse on duty at the time of the hospital fire and credited by Dr. Will Mason as being the heroine of the disaster, is a modest, serious minded young woman and, as the citizens of this county will be proud to learn, a native of Calloway County.

Miss Rose is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Rose.
Funeral services for Mrs. Minnie Webb, 54 years of age, were held Sunday morning, Feb. 10, at 10 o'clock from the Oak Grove Baptist Church. The Rev. R. F.
Gregory was in charge of the services and burial was in the church cemetery. Surviving her is one son, Adolphus Webb.

CRAPPIE FISHERMEN PRAYERS ANSWERED

All advocates of the "commercial method" of crappie fishing, that is, using a cane pole and line with live minnows, say that by far
the best results will be obtained when one uses an electric motor
to slowly inch the boat along as the lake bottom is sounded and the fish taken from the deep waters. But, those electric motors cost over $70.00 and that is a little cold cash for the average fisherman to lay on the line for a little pleasure fishing. For years, folks in these parts have tried, unsuccessfully, however, to work out some method of propelling fishing craft that was not too costly, that was silent and that one man could operate and fish at the same time.

The Hydro-Fin Industries, Inc. of Detroit, Michigan came up with the answer to the pleas of crappie fishermen for a reasonably priced, workable machine that would serve this purpose and do it well. Their Hydro-Fin has been on the market for several years, but it has, as yet, not been introduced to this area. The machine is a very simple instrument (pictured at right) and is easily mounted by clamping it to the boat transom with one thumb screw.

Hydro-Fin, with its pivoted fin provides a constant power thrust across the complete stroke and every ounce of effort exerted is put to good use. With this machine one can slowly scull for crappie, use it to jig-fish-for-bass, or even use it to go after ducks during the hunting season. The Hydro-Fin may be used in conjunction with an outboard motor,
using the motor to cover long distances and the Hydro-Fin for silent propulsion over the fishing grounds. It can even be fastened on the side of a canoe.

By means of the thumb screw in the collar the Hydro-Fin may be set at any convenient height to allow for shallow water or weeds.
It can also be used on boats with slanted sterns by turning a screw
to compensate for the angle so the shaft of the Hydro-Fin will be square with the boat.

With the Hydro-Fin you can turn any boat in its own length. The dog was handled by John Gates of Leesburg, Ga., who also won the championship for Dr.
and Mrs. John McClanahan of Nashville with their dog, Gambler's Eye.

The dogs will be entered in the All-American Derby championship at Carbondale, Illinois, March 15th.

electrical, plumbing and heating conduits on the warm side. Conventionally, insulating blankets are applied from the inside of the studs.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Dr. H. C. Childs

THE CHURCH PROCLAIMS THE GOSPEL

Gospel is a word of deep significance and wide import. It means 'good news' or 'glad tidings.' Rather than being good news to be believed, it is good news to be lived. Instead of telling us to do anything, the gospel is simply the glorious message which tells us what God has done for us in order that we might be saved. These glad tidings, which surpass all others in importance, sublimity and joyousness, were purposed in the mind of God and prompted by the love of God. They are designed to excite joy in all who believe and receive them. The facts which constitute the gospel of Christ are three in number: Christ died for our sins, Christ was buried and Christ arose. I Corinthians 15:3-4.

Our Lord has been pleased to commit His glorious gospel to His churches. They are the custodians of it. As such they are responsible for its communication to others. It is the inestimable privilege and imperative duty of a church to proclaim the gospel to those who have never received it. The personal proclamation of this gospel is the duty of every Christian.

In the preceding verses of this chapter, Paul indicated that the Jews had a zeal for God, but declared that they were ignorant of His righteousness. This accounted for the fact that they were trying to establish their own righteousness, which was a human impossibility. Today, there are many who, like the Jews of Paul's day, are trying to get to heaven by their own

'good' lives, but this they can never do. The only way of escape from the condemnation of the law is through Christ.

Multitudes want to say, offer, give, sacrifice or do something in order to obtain salvation. By their noble thoughts, generous contributions, unselfish actions and good deeds they hope to earn the forgiveness of their sins and get to heaven. But, all such attempts are futile.

Christ's gospel has placed righteousness within the reach of any penitent soul. Through His glorious gospel God has brought His saving message to us, even into our mouths and hearts. To many His way of salvation is not acceptable. Nevertheless, that way is very simple. Here is how the Apostle states it: 'That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved.'

This word of faith in Christ as Savior is near and clear. Note that there is a heart duty, 'Believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead,' and a mouth duty, 'Confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus.' The belief is within the heart, where the Lord sees it; the confession is with the mouth, and men hear it. One must believe with the heart and not the head. Real believing is with the heart, a term which includes the mind, the emotions and the will. As Charles Hodge said, 'Saving faith is not mere intellectual assent, but a cordial receiving and resting on Christ alone for salvation.'

After one believes on Christ as his Savior, he is obligated to confess Him as such before others. Of course, confession would not be anything more than empty words unless it arose from a genuine faith in the heart. Confession is the external evidence of faith. If one truly has faith in Christ, he cannot help but confess it by word and by life. Our Lord requires those who are His to acknowledge that fact to the world.

On account of the prevailing conditions at the time James wrote, it was only natural that there would be a tendency on the part of the Jews to conceal their faith in Christ for fear of the consequences to themselves and their families. That was one reason for the emphasis being placed on confession in this scripture. Let us remember what Christ said about failure to confess Him: 'But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven.' Matthew 10:33. On the other hand, faithfulness in this regard will result in the confessor's being honored by the Savior in the presence of the Father.

This great salvation is offered to both Jew and Gentile. Any individual in the world may place his name where the 'whosoever' of verse thirteen appears with the assurance that, if he calls upon the Lord in faith, he will be saved. To obtain salvation one must exercise faith in Christ for all men, it alone for it. Because this message of salvation by grace through faith in Christ is for all men, it must be carried to those who have never heard this truth. Before men call upon the name of the Lord they will have to learn of Him upon whom they must call. It is the privilege and duty of all Christians to tell others of Him who alone can save them.

I Corinthians 2:1-5.

From Athens, the city of culture, philosophy, politics and spiritual ignorance, Paul went to Corinth, 20,000 COMMUNIST troops are massed in southern Yunnan province of Red China, said Field Marshal Premier Pibul Pibulngarm in Bangkok, site of the SEATO conference, and, 'If we don't do anything about it, the Communists will take over Thailand and dominate the whole of Southeast Asia.' He cited Chien in China and Phongsavly in Laos as Red hotspots.

the city of commerce, architecture, wealth, luxury, wickedness and notorious immorality. There he did a monumental work for the Lord.

Later Paul wrote the epistle from which these verses are taken. In it he instructed the believers concerning the faith in Christ and how they should live as Christians. He also emphasized the meekness and lowliness which characterize true Christians. He reminded them that there had not been anything in his preaching to them which would cause them to feel their importance.

Paul also told them that he went to Corinth determined not to know anything save Jesus Christ and Him crucified. The crucified Christ was the center of all his preaching while he was in their midst. To get people to turn from their sins, believe on Christ and confess Him was his constant aim. To this end he proclaimed one central truth, Christ and Him crucified. He did not rely on human wisdom or eloquence, but on the power of the Holy Spirit. He is the One Who applies the 'gospel truth' to the human heart so as to transform it. That was the secret of his marvelous success in winning men to faith in Christ in that wicked city. The only effective work ever done for the Lord is that which is directed and empowered by the Holy Spirit. 'Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit,' said the Lord of hosts. Zechariah 4:6.

All advocates of the "commercial method" of crappie fishing, that
is, using a cane pole and line with live minnows, say that by far
the best results will be obtained when one uses an electric motor
to slowly inch the boat along as the lake bottom is sounded and the fish taken from the deep waters. But, those electric motors cost over $70.00 and that is too much cold cash for the average fisherman to lay on the line for a little pleasure fishing. For years, folks in these parts have tried, unsuccessfully however, to work out some
method of propelling fishing craft that was not too costly, that was silent and that one man could operate and fish at the same time.

The Hydro-Fin Industries, Inc. of Detroit, Michigan came up with the answer to the pleas of crappie fishermen for a reasonably priced, workable machine that would serve this purpose and do it well. Their Hydro-Fin has been on the market for several years, but it has, as yet, not been
instrument (pictured at right) and is easily mounted on the boat transom with one thumb screw.

Hydro-Fin, with its pivoted fin provides a constant power thrust across the complete stroke and every ounce of effort exerted is put to good use. With this machine one can slowly scull for crappie, use it to jig fish for bass,
or even use it to go after ducks during the hunting season. The Hydro-Fin may be used in conjunction with an outboard motor,
using the motor to cover long distances and the Hydro-Fin for gliding propulsion over the fishing grounds. It can even be fastened on the side of a canoe.

By means of the thumb screw in the collar the Hydro-Fin may be set at any convenient height to allow for shallow water or weeds.
It can also be used on boats with slanted sterns by turning a screw
to compensate for the angle so the shaft of the Hydro-Fin will be
square with the boat.

With the Hydro-Fin you can turn any boat in its own length. The dog was handled by John propel boats up to 80 feet long and won the championship for Dr.
it works so easy that even a child can operate it. There are few moving parts and the wear is negligible. So it will last many years.
More than 46,000 sportsmen are now using the Hydro-Fin, which is patented. The price for the standard model is $17.35, but for only two dollars more the Deluxe model "B" can be purchased and it gives the added feature of a Fin construction which retards the water from slipping over and under. This confines a greater ing parts and the wear is negligible. So it will last many years.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By
Dr. H. C. Childs

THE CHURCH PROCLAIMS THE GOSPEL

Gospel is a word of deep significance and wide import. It means 'good news' or 'glad tidings'. Rather than being good advice to be heeded, it is good news to be believed. Instead of telling us to do anything, the gospel is simply the glorious message which tells us what God has done for us in order that we might be saved. These glad tidings, which surpass all others in importance, sublimity and joyousness, were purposed in the mind of God and prompted by the love of God. They are designed to excite joy in all who believe and receive them. The facts which constitute the gospel of Christ are three in number: Christ died for our sins, Christ was buried and Christ arose. I Corinthians 15:3-4.

Our Lord has been pleased to commit His glorious gospel to His churches. They are the custodians of it. As such they are responsible for its communication to others. It is the inestimable privilege and imperative duty of a church to proclaim the gospel to those who have never received it. The personal proclamation of this gospel is the duty of every Christian. Romans 10:14-15.

In the preceding verses of this chapter, Paul indicated that the Jews had a zeal for God, but declared that they were ignorant of His righteousness. This accounted for the fact that they were trying to establish their own righteousness, which was a human impossibility. Today, there are many who, like the Jews of Paul's day, are trying to get to heaven by their own

'good' lives, but this they can never do. The only way of escape from the condemnation of the law is through Christ.

Multitudes want to say, offer, give, sacrifice or do something in order to obtain salvation. By their noble thoughts, generous contributions, unselfish actions and good deeds they hope to earn the forgiveness of their sins and get to heaven. But, all such attempts are futile.

Christ's gospel has placed righteousness within the reach of any penitent soul. Through His glorious gospel God has brought His saving message to us, even into our mouths and hearts. To many His way of salvation is not acceptable. Nevertheless, that way is very simple. Here is how the Apostle states it: 'That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved.'

This word of faith in Christ as Savior is near and clear. Note that there is a heart duty, 'Believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead,' and a mouth duty, 'Confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus.' The belief is within the heart, where the Lord sees it; the confession is with the mouth, and men hear it. One must believe with the heart and not the head. Real believing is with the heart, a term which includes the mind, the emotions and the will. As Charles Hodge said, 'Saving faith is not mere intellectual assent, but a cordial receiving and resting on Christ alone for salvation.'

Paul also told them that he went to Corinth determined not to know anything save Jesus Christ and Him crucified. The crucified Christ was the center of all his preaching while he was in their midst. To get people to turn from their sins, believe off Christ and confess Him was his constant aim. To this end he proclaimed one central truth, Christ, and Him crucified. He did not reply on human wisdom or eloquence, but on the power of the Holy Spirit. He is the One Who applies the 'gospel truth' to the human heart so as to transform it. That was the secret of his marvelous success in winning men to faith in Christ in that wicked city. The only effective work ever done for the Lord is that which is directed and empowered by the Holy Spirit. 'Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit,' saith the Lord of hosts. Zechariah 4:6.

On account of the prevailing conditions at the time James wrote, it was only natural that here would be a tendency on the part of the Jews 'to conceal their faith in Christ for fear of the consequences to themselves and their families. That was one reason for the emphasis being placed on confession in this scripture. Let us remember what Christ said about failure to confess Him. 'But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven.' Matthew 10:33. On

Each injection takes about one second, is virtually painless, and the gun can do about 1,000 without being reloaded. (International)

Murray Grove Is Outstanding For State Of Kentucky

Mrs. Lula Farmer, president of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle Grove 128, Murray, has received the State Achievement Award Certificate, announcing that the Murray Grove has been judged first in Kentucky in the Outstanding Grove contest that has run for the past two years.

A large U.S. flag, which is one hundred percent silk, was received this week by Mrs. Farmer in recognition of the record made by the local grove. Judging was based on increase in membership, fraternal activities, proficiency in ritualistic work and other accomplishments.

The flag will be presented formally by the National Vice President, Mrs. Henrietta Snider, at the State Convention March 18 in Louisville in the "March of Progress" pageant, and will be used in the special ceremonies at the state meet.

The Murray Grove with an enrollment of over six hundred members is not only the largest grove and has the most active Junior organization in the state, but it was recognized especially for its work in the fraternal field and the ritualistic activities.

Murray also is ranking first in the state in the present publicity contest.

Second place award in the two-year contest went to the Madisonville Grove and the third place went to the Cadiz Grove No. 123.

What's Doing With The SCOUTS

Paging all scouts in Calloway County. Here is your opportunity to let the folks know what your unit is doing.

All you do is just send in the activities each week and we'll do the rest.

You'll find more people will be glad to back scouting if they know what it's all about.

This goes for Girl Scouts too. Any meeting you have or plan to have, just let us know and we'll put it in this column.

Cubs too. In fact any news about any scouts will fit in "What's Doing With The Scouts."

Here's some information for Scouts that they may not know.

Here is a group of men who are 100 per cent behind them. They do a lot of planning with the entire purpose being to "Get more boys into Scouting and more Scouting into boys."

In short here is the Boy Scout Organization for Calloway County for 1955.

Verne Kyle is the District Chairman. He is chairman of Calloway, Marshall and Livingston counties, the Happy Valley District.

Jerry Dent is the District Commissioner and Dave Thornton is the Scout Executive.

The rest of these men are strictly on the county level. Hugh Oakley is Calloway County chairman and Bill Pogue is the Commissioner from Calloway County.

This is the operating committee. Finances, A. W. Simmons, owner of the Murray Livestock Company.

In charge of organizing new troops and extending present ones is Rue Overby, office manager of the stove plant.

Clarence Rodwelder, down at the Ryan-Milk Company, is in charge of camping and other activities.

D. L. Divilbiss of Murray Manufacturing, is in charge of advancing of Scouts to higher grades.

Robert Meyer, also at the stove plant, is in charge of leadership and training of scout leaders.

Dr. Kopperud is chairman of the health and safety committee.

These are just part of the many many grown men who are behind the entire program. Each troop has a committee and Institutional Representative.

The Institutional Representative is the man who is the go-between between the institution (church or club) which sponsors the troop and the troop itself. In other words when the sponsoring group wants to know how their troop is doing, he is the one who can let them know.

Which brings us back to what we said in the first place, send in your Scout news.

Suicide Of Star Forecast By New Book

By ALINE MOSBY

United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — While Abigail Adams lay dead Sunday in her pink satin bedroom, a prediction of her death was down in a green paper-covered manuscript.

The forecast was written by the man who was her escort for 11 years, George Jessel, in his book about show business, "This Way, Miss," to be published in April.

I found the book, in Tommy Adams' now quiet apartment, stacked on the dining room floor with scraps of clippings and photographs about the two of them, her best claim to fame after 12 years in the unsel city that tided in what police called "possible suicide."

Beauty And Busts

In a chapter called "Beauty and Busts" Jessel tells about the young beautiful girl who "grew into Hollywood with stardust in her eyes."

"Yes, I was thinking of Abigail when I wrote it," Jessel said today, "and of the girls like her."

In the book he calls them "very nice people who have gotten into a game that is a million-to-one against them — poor little baby peacocks — one may soon boast of beautifully colored feathers, most will soon be plucked of their tiny plumage."

Jessel tells in the book of a mythical "Mabel Zunz" who wins a free trip to Hollywood and a $75-a-week studio contract. The studio drops her, but it is too late. Mabel doesn't want to go home. She refuses to take any job but acting. . . her name is in the

National Training Program For Sea Scouts Planned This Year

A national training program in safety, courtesy afloat, water conservation and the need to protect afloat which will teach the fundamentals of seamanship to more than 2,500,000 of the nation's youth will be launched this year by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America in cooperation with the Evinrude Boating Foundation of Milwaukee, Wis.

The project, which was a year in planning, was announced today (Tues.) by Donald M. Higgins, National Director of the Health and Safety Service of the Boy Scouts of America. Today is the 45th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America.

"For many years there has been a need for an intensive boat safety education program," Mr. Higgins said. "Our has always been a nation of boatmen—whether on coastal waters, inland lakes or rivers. We not only have a boating heritage but today hundreds of thousands of us spend our recreation and leisure time on or near the water."

"With this in mind we are ready to initiate a program which will effect a large segment of the Scout movement. Boating practices now become an integral part of Scout training," he added.

The program will first center around the training of adult Scout leaders—the camp, program and waterfront directors of Scout camps throughout the nation.

Initial courses in safety and small boat handling will be given this summer at Morristown, N. J., Parkman, Ohio, New Harmony, Md., Osage Beach, Mo., and Grayford, Texas.

Out of this program will come the production of television films to be shown in a public service. These will stress the need for boat safety.

The program will be conducted on a national scale during a two year period. The Evinrude Boating Foundation is devoted to an educational program of safety afloat, small boat handling and conservation of fish and wildlife.

CHAPTER THIRTY

IT WAS A shocking contrast to go out from that courtroom and all it implied in the way of human conduct and misery, and drive to the nurse's home, to walk beneath the tall trees, to enter the wide, grassy hall, and be greeted by Linda in a dark frock, her face as white as the carnations which were in a bowl upon the table at her side.

"Fred...?" Her stiff lips formed the word.

"He's tied up, and sent me. He'll come in a very few minutes.
What...?"

She glanced upward, and Murphy took the stairs three at a time past the parlor window, and into that big bedroom where Theo Kyle lay. Murphy questioned the nurse sharply, as he made his examination.

"I went down for my breakfast,
doctor," the woman said anxiously.
"I had given him his bath, and he changed the bed. He seemed all right. But when I came back he was gasping—like that..."

Theo was indeed gasping. Mus-ture pained his skin, and his breath came in great labored gulps.

"Dr. Beier..." suggested the nurse. "I think it was caffeine, or adrenalin."

"Yes, Miss Campbell," said Dr.
Hudson coldly. She stepped back,
and said no more.

Murphy took Fred's bag to a table, opened it and searched within for a certain small box. He opened this, sharply broke the protective point from the needle and came to the bed with it in his hand.
Miss Campbell brought a square of moist gauze. "Thank you," said the doctor, "though it's hardly necessary..."

He straightened and dropped the used syringe, and its container, into his coat pocket. He stood watching Theo Kyle. The breathing became less stertorous, the eyes closed, the moisture dried upon his skin. His lips drew back a little from his teeth.

Murphy sighed, and turned to the door. "I'll speak to his wife,"
he said to the nurse.

"Where is Dr. Beier?"

Dr. Hudson might not have heard her. Without answering, he went swiftly into the hall, and down the stairs. Linda waited at the foot of them.

"He's tied up," she asked.

"Mrs. Kyle," said Murphy, sharply, "could your husband possibly have got hold of alcohol in any way?"

Linda's hand flew to her lips.
"What are you saying?"

"I'm not saying anything. I asked a question."

"Oh, yes. Well, I don't know,"
Dr. Murphy. I mean, Dr. Hudson.
I haven't seen him in his room; he didn't want me there. But he couldn't walk, could he? I mean, he may have had some hidden in his room, or perhaps you should get Mrs. Kyle."

The nurse said she was at breakfast, rather a belated one.
But—was he left alone at such times?

"She goes on duty at seven, and has coffee. Then I think her practice was to leave his door open, and to tell Frank or Anna that she was leaving. Dr. Hudson, are you telling me that my husband tried to kill himself?"

Murphy looked regretfully at the beautiful young woman, then took her arm and led her to the couch which sat against the white paneling and the scenic wall paper. "My dear," he said gently, "the minute
I came to Jennings and first saw your husband, I told Fred it was an obvious terminal. I mean, he could not get well, that he would die, whatever he might do for him.
Now, perhaps people will say that he took things into his own hands.
But, believe me, it makes no difference. Will make none, in the end. I—Oh, here's Fred."

Linda ran to him, and he comforted her, even as Murphy hurriedly sketched the situation.

"You may come up with us," Fred told her, as he started for the stairs.

"Tell me," said Murphy, "did you get off with a light sentence?"

In the depths of the house, a baby wailed faintly.

Linda had not followed the two men. Fred hurried his step, ignoring Murphy's digression from the matter at hand. An urgent matter, that was evident. Miss Campbell greeted him with a relief she did not attempt to conceal.

Fred gave her his jacket—she handed him his stethoscope. "He
..." she whispered.

Fred nodded, and bent over Theo Kyle. Miss Campbell brought a chair, but before he could seat himself, Fred sighed and straightened. "He's gone," he said quietly.
"Murph..."

"I was asking Linda if he could have got hold of alcohol in any way."

Fred frowned and glanced at the nurse.

"Oh, no, doctor!" she cried.
"You were down at breakfast," Murphy reminded her.

"Yes, I was. But Frank was watching him."

Murphy shrugged expressively.
"What makes you think..."
asked Fred.

In the senior class are the Tucker twins, Lita and Linda. They are seventeen years old. Lita has brown hair and blue eyes, is 5'5" tall and weighs 128 pounds. Her hobby is dating. Linda has brown hair and eyes, is 5'8" tall and weighs 128 pounds. Her hobby is photography. They both list as an advantage of being a twin, "You always have someone to study with." Lita lists as a disadvantage, "Every time one gets something the other has to have the same thing." Linda lists, "Clothes if you don't look alike" as a disadvantage.

The second set of twins in the senior class is the Overbey twins, Bob and Don. Don has brown hair, blue eyes, weighs 150 pounds and is 5'11" tall. They each list as their hobby, "Women." Don lists, "No advantage of being a twin is, 'When I come in late, Don can lie for me.' The disadvantage he lists is, 'That Don can wear my clothes.'" Don lists, "No advantage" but says a disadvantage is, "Having to share things with Bob."

Many Chapel Programs Held

From The Murray High Tiger

On Tuesday January 11, 1955, Supt. W. Z. Carter opened the chapel program by reading the scripture and leading the student body in prayer. He then introduced Rev. Paul Lyles, minister of the First Methodist Church. Rev. Lyles made an interesting talk on how to distinguish right from wrong and why right is right and why wrong is wrong.

Mrs. Mildred Gass then announced that June Foy had won the state cherry-pie-baking contest and was now eligible to enter the National Contest in Chicago.

After making several announcements, Principal W. B. Moser dismissed the student body.

The Tri-Hi-Y club presented the chapel program on January 18. Shirley Joyce Chiles read from the scripture and led in prayer. Louise Jones introduced the cast of "The Admiral's Daughter," a one act play. This was the story of a group of prep-school students of whom the admiral's daughter was one. It was a big week because of the christening of a ship to which Nina, the admiral's daughter, and several of her friends were to take part. But Nina, being very spoiled, broke the rules of the dormitory and was not allowed out of the school. She picked the girl she liked most to take her place and this was the girl from breaking the rule. The cast included Henrietta Warren, Lita Tucker, Anita Rowland, Rosemary Jones, Sandra Eyle, and Freddie Shoemaker. After making announcements Mr. Moser dismissed the students.

The Seventh Grade presented the chapel program on January 22. President Billy Kooperudd read the Bible and led in prayer.

A one act play entitled "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" was presented. Katie Bailey made the introductions. The Pied Piper was played by Donnie Henson. Jimmy Outland was the crippled boy on the street and the townspeople were played by Roger Evans, Ronnie Henson, and Tommy Shirley. The student body certainly enjoyed this well presented program.

After Principal W. B. Moser made the announcements, the report cards were given out and chapel was dismissed.
